ninos best time was 1260's but he forgot he had a milk carton with ton of crap in the truck and the tools we used to chage the tires jack, etc etc, bc it seems people steal stuff in the parking lot at track if u leave it unattended. tha was done with a 16 et street which i think a 15 would have been better for that car, and stock wheels up front. IT had a bone stock suspension. It also had the front sway bar still on the car. the car only had 410 gears and 430s or 456 would have been better with more weight redux 11s would have been achieved easily. its been done but just not in the valley.
